ABOUT ME

My interest in design began in high school when I started looking at how websites were being uniquely put together. I then began teaching myself how to build and design websites using what was then called Macromedia (now Adobe) products Dreamweaver, Flash, and Fireworks.

Design lingered as mostly a hobby until I started a small record label/promotions company in Denver, Colorado in 2005. It was during this time that I began to further develop my design skills through working with various artists and bands.

In 2010 I returned to Georgia where I began working as a mental health therapist and then as an adjunct professor of psychology at a local College. After a few years I had a career change when I was offered the opportunity to do video motion graphics for the University of West Georgia. Through this job my abilities grew exponentially, as well as my desire for working in the design field. I averaged upwards of 2200 graphics a year, while managing student workers to produce full TV-quality live productions.

I am currently a freelance designer doing a range of different things including videography, editing, motion graphics, marketing and audio engineering.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions you may have! I look forward to the opportunity to work with you!
